Building on our very successful presentation last year on the history of Resolute Forest Products, we are delighted to invite you to a fascinating early look at a history story in progress.... The Tembec Story.

It is a remarkable story of courage, worker empowerment, leadership, community energy and determination. It starts in the small town of Temiscaming, Quebec on the headwaters of the Ottawa River in 1973 with the repatriation of a shuttered International Paper mill.

The presentation will be made by two Laurentian University students who are undertaking the research and drafting a manuscript under the guidance of Board member and forest History Professor Dr Mark Kuhlberg.

The first of the key researchers on this book project is Sarah Anne Gould who recently graduated with a B.A. in History and is currently completing her B. Ed with plans to start a Masters in History later this year.

The second researcher is Fiona Symington a fourth year student in History focusing on contemporary Canadian history with plans to undertake a masters degree in History in the near future.

Members and non-members are all invited to join us to hear this fascinating history, meet the authors and engage in our question-and-answer session.
